Subject: re: Cooks Beach promotional signage

Hi All

With the celebrations for Cooks 250 coming up next year the Cooks Beach Rate Payers Association would like to focus some attention on the promotional road signage for Cooks Beach. It has the most historic places of interest in the area for Cooks visit and it gets no recognition for that in any road signage anywhere. This is separate to the interpretive signage planned for the 250 celebrations. Our ratepayer group think this needs to be addressed.

Is this something that the Community Board can help with please?

In the signage discussions was also the erection of a "Welcome To" sign coming into Cooks Beach. Placing of this sign and the construction of it has yet to be decided by the CBRA. Does the MBCB have any objection to the building of the sign?

Thanks for your consideration in regards to this topic. I look forward to hearing all your thoughts.

Cheers
Paul
